threatening the lives of General Grant, Hon. John A. Bingham, Governor Hennessey, and several members of the Government, if such useless expenditure was not immediately stopped. A copy of the notice has been sent to various foreigners in Tokyo, including, it is said, some foreign officials; also to a considerable number of Japanese officials and notabilities, and the Japan Gazette gives the following as the purport of the communication:—

Several foreigners have come to Japan recently to enjoy our hospitality. Read, the German prince, Hennessey, and now Grant. All have been treated at our cost in a profuse and absurdly lavish way. There is no precedent for such doings. Our Mikado knows nothing of it. It is not his doing, nor by his wish. Nor is it done by the nation's wish. It is done by wicked ministers and corrupt officials who, obliged to divert public attention from the ill-performance of their duties, try to curry favour by the show and excitement of our foreign visitors. Yet at this time China, for instance, is hostile to us about our dealing with Loo-Choo. China may even seek to go to war with us to settle the questions of her disputes. This empire, then, is in danger, yet our ministers arrange these wickedly profuse and excessive entertainments hoping to divert attention from their crimes. This can be no longer tolerated.

The document concludes with a declaration that to put an end to this expenditure "the Patriotic Party" have met together and made designs of the nature above indicated. This concluding part of the document is a distinct threat of assassination of individuals designated. The Gazette says this is "a remedy which is, to English ideas, infamous and indefensible. However, the document shows a very determined feeling of a dangerous character, and ought not to be lightly regarded. Inquiry shows that, short of the suggestion of threatened assassination, the sentiments of the document have the approval of the respectable officials and gentry of the capital."

Our contemporary has also the following temperate and sensible remarks as to how far the Government will be bound to take action in this matter:—

"How far the Government will heed the threatening circular issued in Tokyo a few days ago, can only be a matter of conjecture. They will most likely pay but little attention to the threats contained in that document, except by taking more than ordinary precautions to protect themselves and their foreign visitors against any possible reprisal by assassins. But it is to be presumed that the Government will not altogether ignore the indignation feelings on the subject of the reception of foreigners which are entertained by an evidently powerful faction of the people. To do so will be hazardous in the extreme, and may not only imperil their own personal safety, but jeopardise the friendly relations existing with other countries. The Italian prince is reported to have left Nagasaki yesterday, (14th) and is expected to arrive in Yokohama on or about the 18th; and it is to be hoped, for the sake of internal peace and quietness, that the Government will exercise that discretion and temperance in his reception of which there has been such an evident lack in the entertaining of foreigners of late. To extend a courteous welcome to a guest does not necessarily mean a frantic rush into all kinds of excesses, and the expending of $10,000 or $20,000."

Mr. Hennessey had not been assassinated, we are glad to hear, up to the middle of the month, when H. E. and Mrs. Hennessey left Rio de Janeiro for Shanghai in the steamer Galley of Lorne.

The three-masted schooner Jessie McDonald, John Stott master, arrived here yesterday from New South Wales, coal-laden, gives the following report:—

Left Newcastle (N.S.W.) on Saturday June 21st, with variable S.W. winds and unsettled weather, which continued until the 24th, wind flying round the compass for several days, with thick overcast sky, and every appearance of a heavy Easterly gale; glass 30.30. On the morning of the 24th June, the wind backed into E. and E.N.E., and increased to a heavy gale of wind and a deluge of rain. All sail was taken in, and the ship hove to under three reefed mainsail and storm mizzen and everything secured for the safety of the ship. Our position was about Lat. 30.30 South, and distant off the land about 80 miles. From 8 a.m. on the above date the weather got worse with fearful squalls and sheets of incessant blinding rain; the wind had increased to hurricane strength, with fearful sea running, which continued throughout the day, increasing as the day advanced. The glass fell from 30.30 in the morning to 29.48 at 7 p.m., when, during a terrific squall, the wind suddenly shifted from E. to N.E. and N. and N.W., carrying both spanker and main boom over and carrying all the toppling-lift away. Then in less than half an hour from the shift of wind it was almost a dead calm. The sea was running heavy in all directions, breaking on board the vessel head and stern, and filling the deck with water; the ship was utterly at the mercy of the sea, for there was no wind to steady her; and she lay in this critical position all night, the sea making a clear breach over her. The pumps were attended to during the gale, but the ship made no water during the night; it was impossible to stand on the main deck for the sea. On the morning of the 25th, it was found that the sea had torn the covering of the chainplates and that a great quantity of water had got below; as the ship was at this time very dead in the water, having made sail to keep on our course, we found so much water in the hold that we had to bring the ship to the wind being then moderate. All hands were put on to the pumps, after unshackling the cables as to prevent more water from getting below; then it was found that the water was nearly up to the hold beams and flush with the lower forecastle floor. Part of the crew was at the pump, while a few were baling water out forward; as the pumps were kept at work we found we were gaining on the water and after continuing at the pump all hands for 36 hours, we succeeded in getting a suck on the pumps and found that the ship was not making water, only what had gone down the pumps from the deck. Fortunately the weather was moderately fine, only a nasty sea running, which kept constant flood of water about the deck, and caused us to lose a good deal of our bulwarks and ports. On the 26th June all sail was set and the ship kept on her course—Lat. 30.7 S., Long. 154.8 E. From this date until July 4th, in Lat. 17.19 S., we had moderate winds, and fine weather from the south-westward. From 17 S. to 4 S. had light S.E. and E.S.E. wind, until, passing between New Ireland and the Solomon Islands, had several days' light air and calm. Thence to the Equator, (which was crossed in 141 E., 28 days out) had light easterly wind. From 5 N. to 12 N. we had a succession of light S.E. winds and calms and unsettled weather. Thence to the Ballintang channel, light winds and calms. From August 8th until the night of the 23rd had nothing but a succession of calms with occasional light airs and a strong current setting E., with excessive heat; Thermometer hardly ever below 90 and often at 98 in the shade.

More sudden deaths are reported from Shanghai. Mr. J. Mellish, who was connected with a silk reeling factory at Si-caw, was suddenly taken ill and died on the 15th. The carpenter of the British steamer Claverhouse was suddenly taken ill on the 16th, and both died a few hours afterwards, death being the result of heat apoplexy. A widow lady named McGiffie was on the 15th instant struck down by the heat and was taken to the hospital, where she died. She had been ailing for a little while previously, but thought herself strong enough to take a walk. On the 12th, two native prisoners from the Loosai Police Station were sent to the Gutai Hospital in the Ningro road, suffering from a stiffness in the knee joints. One of them was serving a twelve-month term of imprisonment, and on Sunday afternoon he died suddenly, death being attributed to heat apoplexy. The other man had twelve days to serve of a six months' sentence, and it was intimated to him that if he escaped the police would not trouble about him. Accordingly he took advantage of the native doctor's absence, hailed a jinriksha, and was driven away. There have been a large number of deaths among the Chinese; and this record brings up the deaths among Europeans to about a dozen.

The Evening edition of the Shanghai Courier of the 20th inst. has the following:—

It may, we think, be now safely concluded that the period of frightfully hot and dry weather, from which we have suffered without interruption during the last few weeks, has come to an end. This morning, at about five o'clock, several violent gusts of wind, coming from the west, tore through the Settlement, and doubtless caused many residents to rise from their beds in apprehension of a typhoon. A peculiar, pink appearance of the sky in the east was visible at the same time. The gusts of wind were followed by a heavy shower of rain. On the rain ceasing the sun shone forth brilliantly, and in the course of the morning the thermometer again began to rise to uncomfortable figures, but this afternoon a succession of thunderstorms has sent the temperature down to a delightful degree of coolness.

Mr. Hennessey arrived at the Osaka Mint on the 12th inst. On the following day the Mint was to be worked for his special gratification, though it would not be formally opened till the 16th. There have been great extensions in the copper-minting department, in view of the increased work necessary in converting cash (all except the old rin called dosen) into copper-pien. After Mr. Hennessey had inspected the Mint he was to return to Kobe and proceed to Hongkong via Shanghai.

While the news by telegraph of the sentence of death passed on Lieut. Carey (now Captain) is fresh in our minds, we note by recent English papers that the Empress Eugénie feels very keenly the charges that are being brought against those who were entrusted with the care of the Prince Imperial, and expresses a strong desire that nobody may incur censure through the inquiry into the circumstances under which he came by his death. The Empress regards the stroke that has befallen her house as having occurred to the Prince in the working out of his destiny and in the discharge of his duty, and finds a solace in the fact that he died in the performance of a useful service to the army which he had joined.

The charge on which Lieut. Carey was brought before Court Martial was that of "having misbehaved before the enemy on June 1, when in command of an escort in attendance on the Prince Imperial, who was making a reconnaissance in Zululand; in having, when the said Prince and escort were attacked by the enemy, galloped away; and in not having attempted to rally the said Prince, or in other ways defied the said Prince." Col. Harrison, replying to questions in court, said that in the matter of escort he was not ordered to treat the Prince as a Royal personage, but as an ordinary officer, using, however, due precaution. Lieut. Carey contended that he was not in charge of the Prince or of the escort. The latest telegrams received at Home, from the Cape, before the departure of the last mail, stated that the decision of the court-martial had not been announced.

The finding of the Court of Inquiry in consequence of which the Court Martial had met for Carey's trial was as follows:—

1. That Lieut. Carey did not understand the position in which he stood to the Prince, and in consequence failed to estimate aright the responsibility which fell to his lot. Quartermaster-General Harrison states in evidence that Lieut. Carey was in charge of the escort; while Lieut. Carey, alluding to the escort, says, "I do not consider that I had any authority over it." After the precise and careful instructions of Lord Chelmsford, stating, as he did, the position the Prince held, and that he was invariably to be accompanied by an escort in charge of an officer, the court considers that such difference of opinion should not have existed between officers of the same department.

2. That Lieut. Carey is much to be blamed in having proceeded on duty with the Prince, the escort detached by the Quartermaster-General. The court cannot admit the plea of irresponsibility on Lieut. Carey's part, inasmuch as he himself took steps to obtain the escort, and failed; moreover, the fact that the Quartermaster-General was present on the 1st inst. Ridge gave Lieut. Carey the opportunity of consulting him on the matter, of which he failed to avail himself.

3. That the selection of the kral where the halt was made, surrounded as it was by cover for the enemy, and the adjacent difficult ground, showed lamentable want of military prudence.

4. That no effort was made to rally the escort and show a front to the enemy, whereby the possibility of aiding those who had failed to make good their retreat might have been ascertained.

Police Intelligence.

(Before C. V. O'neagh, Esq.)
Monday, August 25.

ASSAULT BY A SEAMAN.
Thomas McCormack, fireman of the British steamer Guy Manning, had come ashore yesterday with a chum, to buy a box; not being able to agree about the price, he threw the box down rather roughly, and, when spoken to about doing so, lifted a stool and struck the carpenter on the head with it. When P. C. Kala Singh came on the scene, complainant was calling out for a policeman; a crowd of Chinese were at that time pelting defendant with stones.

His Worship found the charge proved and ordered defendant to pay $1 amends to the box-maker.

THEFT OF $400.
Li Acheong, charged with stealing $400, and remanded from the 11th inst., was brought up to-day. It was found that the complainant has left the Colony and does not wish to prosecute the prisoner. Prisoner admitted taking $155, the property of his uncle and sent by him to his mother. $90 of the money he spent, the remainder he pawned.

He was sentenced to three months' imprisonment with hard labor. The $89 in pawn and $14 found on prisoner when arrested, goes into the Police fund as unclaimed property.

DISTURBANCES BY SEAMEN.

Henry Hobert, a German seaman of the British barque Hazeltine, had come ashore yesterday and got a trifling tip and began to rush at a constable and hit him. A constable arrested him and a Chinaman. As they were passing a barber's shop in East Street, Hobert rushed in and broke a stool and some crockery ware; and altogether was very violent on the way to the station. He offered to give the constable $2 to let him go.

His Worship imposed a fine of $2, in default of payment seven days' imprisonment, and ordered the prisoner to pay $1 amends to the man he had assaulted and $60 cents as damages to the barber for goods broken, in default of these latter to suffer five days' extra imprisonment.

Robert Donaldson, a seaman of the British steamer Spartan, after being carried about the Colony for three hours, in a licensed chair, refused to pay chair-hire, and was taken to the Police Station. Inspector Corcoran who entered the chair, said that the prisoner was under the influence of liquor when brought to the Station, and told him that he had offered the chair coolies thirty cents, which they refused, so he would not give them one cent.

Fined 30 cents and ordered to pay the coolies fifty cents, or go to gaol for three days.

A VIOLENT DISTURBER OF THE PEACE.

Chan A Yan, with some others not in custody, went into a brothel in Square Street and commenced creating a disturbance, pulling the locks off the doors, and using iron bars to break the panels, partitions, and crockery ware. A District Watchman was called to the spot and arrested prisoner; when he got him to the door the crowd attempted a rescue; he obtained assistance and took him to the Police Station. The man was fined $5, and ordered in default of payment, fourteen days' hard labor, and to be exposed in the stocks for six hours at the scene of the offence; also to pay $1 amends to the mistress of the brothel or in default of payment to suffer seven days' further imprisonment with hard labor; and to find security in $25 to be of good behaviour for twelve months, or suffer one month's further imprisonment.

THEFT OF SHOES.

Lai Achan, a hawker, for stealing a pair of shoes belonging to a fellow lodger, was sent to gaol for two months with hard labour.

EXTRAORDINARY CASE: HORRIBLE TREATMENT OF A BEGGAR.

The master of the Chinese chairmaker's shop No. 24 Lyndhurst Terrace, and a man who is employed under him, were charged with an assault committed under the following circumstances:—

Chan Aun, a mendicant, had sat down to rest himself at the door of a chairmaker's shop in Lyndhurst Terrace yesterday about noon. The master of the shop and one of his assistants went out, and seizing the mendicant, dragged him into the shop, tied his hands behind his back with a thick rope; part of the rope being round his neck, so that, according to the evidence of Sergeant Toomey, he had pulled with his hands he must have strangled himself. After this they tied a rope on each of his large toes and suspended him, head downwards, about two feet from the ground from a beam across the ceiling, keeping him in that position for about two hours.

Police Sergeant Toomey and Perry were attracted to the spot by a large crowd being assembled round the door, and found the two defendants holding the mendicant up to the beam; they took them in charge.

The master of the shop said that he heard a cry of "thief" yesterday, and went to the door of his shop, when he found the complainant running off with two of his chairs; he caught him, took him into the shop, and, with the assistance of his shopman tied him up as had been described by the Police Sergeant; he had lately lost a lot of things and suspected complainant was the thief, and tied him up to make him confess. What had been done by his shopman was done by his orders.

First defendant was sentenced to two months' imprisonment with hard labor, and ordered to pay a fine of $15 and $5 amends to the complainant, or suffer four weeks' further imprisonment with hard labor.

Second defendant was sent to prison for two months with hard labor.

(Before the Hon. C. B. Plunket)

LARCENY OF A JACKET.

Teo Kai Kun, charged with stealing a silk jacket, admitted the charge, and said he stole it because he was starving. He was sent to gaol for one month with hard labour.

ASSAULTING A CONSTABLE.
Leung Fuk Yung and Li Acheung, the latter an old offender, were charged with and convicted of assaulting a constable in the discharge of his duty.

The constable had been on duty and saw some men carrying a log of wood which he believed had been stolen; he went up and made enquiries. The two defendants knocked him down and kicked him. He was sent to hospital and is still suffering. His Worship sent the prisoners to gaol for six months with hard labor.

SUPREME COURT.

IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

(Before the Hon. the Acting Puisne Judge, J. J. Francis, Esq.)
Monday, August 25.

TONG LONG HIN v. POON KA SHIN and OTHERS.—This was a claim on a promissory note given in March 1878. Mr. H. L. Denny appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. Brereton for the defendant. It appears that a sum of money ($490) was borrowed some time in March 1878, for which a promissory note was given. The loan was negotiated by one, Chun Chun Hang, a partner in the Kwong Shoo Loong shop, who has since left that shop, and is now in the employ of Mr. Bellifios. The promissory note was drawn by Chun Chun Hang in favor of Tong Long Hin at two months after date, and bore, under the chop of the Kwong Shoo Loong shop, the words "Tan Po," which were translated to mean that in case the principal failed to pay the security would take the debt on his own shoulders. The lender of the money understood at the time of lending, that, although the loan was negotiated by Chun Chun Hang, he was giving the loan to the Kwong Shoo Loong shop. Two days before the note became due, the lender said he went to the Kwong Shoo Loong shop, when the manager told him that his partner would require to go to Saigon to collect money and that the promissory note would be paid on his return, but it was not paid. Chun Chun Hang left the Kwong Shoo Loong shop; plaintiff has repeatedly asked Poon Ka Shin for payment and now raised the present action.

Mr. Brereton for his clients said that the money had been borrowed without their consent by Chun Chun Hang, who had used it for his own use, and that the chop of his clients' house had been fraudulently affixed to the promissory note. He drew attention to the fact that the note had not been witnessed in writing by any one, as was the rule where large amounts are borrowed. At this stage of the proceedings his Lordship suggested that Chun Chun Hang be summoned, and adjourned the case for one week to admit of this being done.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL,"
August 25, 1879.

SIR,—Since reading the observations made in your issue of the 22nd, in reference to the medical attendance of H. M. 27th Regiment, I have found, by private conversation with those immediately concerned, that it is a subject upon which the medical force strongly. It appears that the present arrangements are very unsatisfactory to the men, but I found they are very unwilling to complain for obvious reasons. Still, they consider that the Doctor should be more "get-at-able"—should, in fact, be compelled to live in the quarters provided for him. I need not say that I think there is reason in their desire.—Yours,

ANOTHER INTERESTED IN H. M. 27TH.

SHANGHAI.
(News.)

We hear that the vexed question of the bulk Qadiz at Chinkiang has at last been decided in favour of the ship, and that she is to return to a berth near her original position. We do not presume to comprehend the deep reason for this reservation, which will entail considerable expense on her owners in the removal of her old moorings. The whole proceedings in the matter have been so arbitrary and so needlessly offensive, that we trust the British authorities have taken such steps as may for the future check the eccentricities of amateur conservators.

The degree of Doctor of Divinity has been conferred upon the Rev. J. M. W. Farnham, by Union College, his alma mater.

We learn that the German three-masted schooner Christian, which left Newchwang on the 24th July for Foochow, put into Chefoo, having lost foremast and main and mizzen topmasts, and with her bulwarks stove in. One of her crew was washed overboard, and two others were severely injured by the falling spars. The Carl Ludwig (brig), also from Newchwang for Amoy, was towed into port by the German gun vessel Wolf, having failed to make Chefoo under jury masts. The Pon Werder has been lost in the vicinity of the Shun-lee wreck. The Wolf, having on board Consul General Lusder, proceeded to the wreck and returned after an absence of two days, bringing the master and crew of the vessel. She also brought back Messrs. Buchanan and Black from the Shun-lee.

CHIFOO.
On Friday, the 1st August, Chefoo was visited by one of the most violent storms, though fortunately of short duration, that has been experienced here for a long time.

On Thursday, at midnight, the sky became overcast, with a southerly breeze blowing. About 1 a.m. heavy rain fell, and between 5 and 6 a.m. the wind changed to the North and blew with great fury. The rain continued to pour down, literally "in torrents," until nearly 11 a.m. By that time the gardens in the lower level of the Settlement, and some of the streets in the Chinese town, were from six inches to two feet under water. The force of the wind, assisted somewhat by the sodden state of the ground, tore down a great many trees, both great and small, in the Settlement and neighbourhood. The tide was an exceptionally high one, and did considerable damage to the jetties and boundary walls near the water's edge.

Some of the vessels in harbour dragged their anchors, and H.M.S. Swinger was in great danger of being driven on shore, but managed to escape without damage.

The German schooner Christian was brought in on the 10th, in tow of the German barque Marie, in a totally disabled condition. She was bound to Tientsin from Foochow.

The German barque Pon Wordo went on shore off the Promontory during a dense fog on the 12th, and has become a total wreck. The German gun-vessel Wolf has just brought in another German vessel, with only a portion of her lower masts standing.—N. C. D. News.

Japan.

YOKOHAMA.
(Gazette.)

Of late we have received no further details about the negotiations which were to be carried on by the Imperial Chinese envoy, Chung Hoo, in St. Petersburg, for the restitution of the Kailash by Russia to China. About six months ago it was announced that Russia would give back the Kailash upon conditions of compensation not yet made known. Chung Hoo is still in St. Petersburg, and his claim remains unsettled. He has reinforced his three armies and menaces the Russian forces. Just at this moment an angry dispute arises between China and Japan, the possible issue of which seems to alarm the Japanese newspapers. Is there any connection between the Russian and Chinese dispute about the Kailash and the Japanese dispute about the Kailash? The coincidence of the events is worthy of note, and we are of opinion that it is not accidental.

The Nichi Nichi Shinbun says that an Englishman named Harris, residing in Tsukiji, Tokyo, has addressed a petition to the Governor of the Tokyo Fu to be allowed to become a Japanese subject.

A letter received in Tokyo by the Home Department reports that the Loochoo Islanders are in a state of disquietude. Also that one of the attendants of the late king, named Sakuma, and thirty others, have left their homes and gone no one knows where; but it is thought probable that they have gone to China.

The steady advance in the price of rice has attracted the attention of the Minister of Finance, H. E. Okuma, who proposes selling the rice stored in government godowns, so as to bring down the price within reach of the poorer classes of the people. With this object in view, 8,600 koku, from the storehouses at Asakusa, were put up for sale in Tokyo to-day (11th); and about 30,000 koku will shortly be sold in various parts of the country.

The agrarian riots which have occurred at Niigata in consequence of the alteration in the land tax, high price of rice and quarantine regulations, have assumed a more serious aspect than we were at first led to suppose. Intelligence has been received in Tokyo that the whole male population of the village of Tarni, numbering about six hundred, marched in a body on the town of Niigata on the 7th instant, committing numerous depredations by the way. On entering the town the rioters immediately made for the police stations, which they attacked. The police-defended themselves and their offices gallantly, but had to give way before the infuriated mob, but not before some thirty men altogether had been either killed or seriously wounded in the affray. In the meantime word was sent to the military station of Shibata, distant about five ri from Niigata, and a detachment of troops were immediately sent to quell the disturbance, but before they arrived the police had rallied and attacked the mob, whom they succeeded in dispersing. It appears that the principal object of the rioters in attacking Niigata was to prevent the exportation of rice by the merchants of that port, as they fear that that article will continue to rise in price, if its exportation is permitted, so that they will be unable to purchase it for home consumption, and their families will suffer in consequence.

Prince Sawa, son of Prince Arisugawa, who arrived in Hakodate in H. M. Charlyddis, is expected to leave that port in the Iron Duke for Nicolaieff, on the 10th instant.

The U. S. S. Monongahela sails for the north on Wednesday next. Accounts from Niigata (Aug. 15th) are more favourable. The rioters have returned to their homes and the troops to Shibata.

COMPLAINTS AGAINST CAPTAINS.

Writing of the relations between shipmasters and their crew, especially when there has been, or when it is alleged there has been, cruelty or some such offence against the law committed at sea by the Captain or his officers, the Japan Gazette calls attention to a recent case in which it had ventured to hint at the possibility of the charge brought against several of the crew of the North America having been prompted by a desire on the part of the master to close the mouths of those seamen. Our contemporary is now in possession of information from San Francisco which goes far to justify that supposition. James Arbidson, one of the seamen of that vessel, has made an affidavit at San Francisco to the effect that on 23rd December last, when the North America was off the Cape of Good Hope, Leon Vassar, while firing the mainmast, fell overboard. The ship was put about and twice passed within twenty feet of the unfortunate man, who could have been saved had a boat been lowered, as is customary in such cases. But this was not done. The Captain asked the seamen if they were satisfied that Vassar was drowned, when Arbidson and a companion replied "No," and told Captain Creedman that he could be rescued by putting a boat over, whereupon that commander seized Arbidson by the throat and threatened to knock off his head if he spoke another word of disapproval. Arbidson concludes his statement by saying that Vassar was a good swimmer, and kept nearly twenty minutes above the water, in the vicinity of the ship, waiting for help. Our contemporary has the following very sensible comments:—

"Of course there can be no doubt that it was the duty of Arbidson and the other seamen to report this circumstance at the first port in which an American Consul was to be found. We do not attempt to justify this neglect, but there are many reasons why seamen do not always charge their superiors with inhumanity at sea. The great anxiety with them is to get out of the ship at any cost, and many an inhuman act has been condoned by the master consenting to pay off those whom he fears will be likely to prosecute him. Once this is done he has no fear. The men immediately indulge in excesses and think no more of their hardships or ill-treatment, and those, if any, who are determined to see justice done, generally find themselves without a single credible witness. Before the case can be brought on perhaps the principal witnesses have taken another ship and are thousands of miles away, when wanted to appear in substantiation of the charge, and the one who institutes it is looked upon as a person who has attempted, through spleen, to blast the reputation of a master or mate, because he was a strict disciplinarian or because he has visited some of his crew with punishment for incapacity or insubordination. We have known instances in which the men combined to save a master from just punishment for his culpable neglect, and many cases could be cited in which, were the facts brought plainly forward, life imprisonment if not capital punishment, would be the sentence. Of all nationalities using the sea as a commercial highway none is more severe in the treatment of seamen than the United States, and yet there is not one whose laws would appear to give greater security to men 'before the mast.' Of course there are many exceptions to the rule, but it is a notorious fact that many men will not ship in an American merchantman if they can avoid it; but the 'Shiloh Browns' and boarding masters generally of American ports have a way of their own for supplying a ship with seamen, even against the expressed wish of the latter. Very few American masters ship their men by the discharge shows them. They prefer to select more youths, with a sprinkling of thorough seamen, and these again are as dissipated in the matter of nationality as they well can be. In this crew there will surely be no unanimity—'everybody for himself' is the feeling that pervades the 'ore-castle, and the officers can do just as they please without the slightest danger of combined resistance, and with very little risk of being called to account in port. In any case it is a most difficult thing to prove cruelty at sea, except where the same has been systematically persisted in against some particular person or persons, and even then it is strange indeed if some aggravating circumstance cannot be trumped up against him for the purpose of destroying his credibility and that of those who side with him. The present instance, if true, is an example of the heartlessness of which some men can be guilty, but it is by no means an uncommon one, as every old tar can tell. America has no Plimsoll, willing to wreck health and fortunes in the cause of sailors, and it therefore behoves every American who is in any way connected with the shipping of his country, to do all in his power to render justice to the unfortunate men 'before the mast.'"

COMMERCIAL.

August 25.
A very fair business has been done in both kinds of Bengal Drug since last report. The rates, however, have not been influenced thereby, though for Benares it has improved at the close, as the shipments coast-wise have been large. As supplies for next month are not expected before the 5th prox., and the intervention of the Bengalees' new year holidays is likely to delay the departure of the steamers with the tenth sale's drug from the another end, the ruling of the rates is not likely to be much affected at present since the exchange keeps low. The present rates are $532½ to $537½ for Patna, and $505 to $510 for Benares.

No fresh receipts have to be added to that last noted, 3,684 chests, against 3,318 chests to the corresponding date last year. During the interval some 1,100 chests have been taken by the local consumers, against 650 chests at the corresponding period last year. This, with the exportations, leaves the available supply computed at 1,550 chests, against 2,700 chests same time last year. Of this last quantity 600 chests were Benares, of which kind the present stock comprises 450 chests.
